Reminiscing a time when room to breathe and streams of sunlight were paramount to design, today this two-bedroom apartment delivers updated comfort for the modern inner-city dweller. Set within a quiet complex of just 11 homes, the home is an easy 500-metre walk to Kew Junction's tempting eateries, shops, and city-bound transport, while situated minutes from the Yarra River's parklands and the Eastern freeway. Welcomed by an entry foyer and coat cupboard, the home opens into a vast lounge and dining room, offering the space to mingle with family and friends. Bathed in northern sun, the home indulges indoor-outdoor enjoyment, extending onto a balcony overlooking the gardens. The spacious kitchen offers room for meals, providing gas cooking amid ample retro-styled cabinetry, offering scope to modernise in future years. Each bedroom is privately positioned with generous space for retreat, complemented by wall-to-wall robes and a central bathroom with both a shower and a bath. Completed by an adjoining laundry, a separate WC, plus a carport, the home assures modern comfort with split system air-conditioning and secure intercom entry.
