A beautiful discovery within a private and secluded setting, this sympathetically renovated home has been artfully revived to enhance its endearing weatherboard form, showcasing a relaxed environment crafted for family peace in a natural Olivers Hill enclave. Grand beyond a collection of Maple trees and lush greenery, its classic two-level cottage aesthetic has been renovated in such a way that feels entirely organic, with vintage elements given a crisp new life and modern insertions blending effortlessly. Perfectly zoned living and dining rooms are separated by a fireplace, matching the aesthetic of the modern stone kitchen with integrated appliances, a butler's-style laundry, and subtle brass highlights. The wide bullnose verandah at the front of the home is a beautiful place to oversee the extensive front yard, complemented by a sun-dappled breakfast deck at the rear through French doors. A secondary living space, or possible 5th bedroom, on the upper floor is surrounded by four robed bedrooms with split-system comfort, including the main bedroom with a rainfall shower ensuite and walk in robe. A local's secret relished for its little-known verdant splendour, this exclusive home sits in the Frankston High School zone, bordered by the Sweetwater Creek walking trail and the Olivers Hill lookout, with near-immediate convenience to the Beach, Mount Eliza Village and Frankston's CBD. Additional features include a multipurpose room ideal as an office, split-system air conditioning to every bedroom and living space, ducted heating, and a double carport.
