With enhanced original features and a distinct, contemporary profile, this generously sized, house-like villa answers the question of what low-maintenance family living in a tightly knit bayside community should look like. Understated, yet stylish interiors are framed on both sides by two alfresco entertaining areas. At the entry, a paved terrace gives warm introductions, which are echoed in the undercover terrace along the rear. Bifold doors connect it with the kitchen, giving a seamless indoor-outdoor experience that plays to the burgeoning entertainer. Along with three bedrooms, a family bathroom, and Euro laundry, the property features polished timber flooring, gas heating, living room A/C, decorative open fireplace, and a rear studio perfect for larger families or those seeking to work from home. Peaceful, private, and exceptionally positioned, the property places Chelsea station village and the foreshore within immediate reach.
