Ormiston House is a grand mansion on the shores of Macquarie Harbour in Strahan, on the stunning West Coast of Tasmania. Built in 1899 in the Queen Anne Federation style using solid brick and timber, the heritage-listed house was built for FO Henry, known as the founder of Strahan. Currently operating as a private hotel, it offers 5 beautifully appointed ensuite rooms, affording a unique experience of grandeur, luxury and hospitality in a fabulous location. Landscaped gardens, commercial kitchen, manager's 2 bed apartment in former coach house, garage/workshop and carport. Ideal for owner/operator couple seeking a sea change and a slower pace of life. Now is your chance to relive the grandeur of a bygone era. Ormiston House could continue as a private hotel, reopen its first-class restaurant or convert back to a private residence. Come down for air. Only in Tasmania. For sale by Expression of Interest closing 11 April 2024. Inspection strictly by appointment.
