

1 Halyard Drive, Moruya Heads, NSW 2537

House For Sale

Friday, 24 May 2024

1 Halyard Drive, Moruya Heads, NSW 2537

Bedrooms: 2

Bathrooms: 1

Parkings: 5

Area: 2540 m2

Type: House

Karen Herrick

$749,000

This character filled home was built for the owners to live out their retirement years in, and they built it with the understanding of maximising the views, the aspect and the size of the block, and yet making their beautiful home comfortable and manageable with their needs as they aged. Some of the features this home displays are Qld Blackwood floors, lovely lead light features, combustion woodfire, ducted R/C air con massive 3 car garage with power, separate access with carport for a caravan, private courtyard area at the front and a deck off the back of the house that looks out over the bush, wetland and out to the mountains...there have been some stunning sunsets watched from spot over the years and having a block size of half an acre gives you the feeling of being in the bush, without actually being in the bush. In fact it's a very short drive to Moruya and the new hospital will be just around the corner. This is an absolute stunner of a home and would suit the empty nester that wants to put their van or boat somewhere, the first home buyer or the retiree. Inspect this beautiful home if you dare because I know you'll fall in love.