Are you always searching for some peace and quiet in your own home? Hiding in any nook and cranny you can find; hoping to finally get that much needed alone time. Then worry no more, because we have just the place for you. Imagine...You're within walking distance to the coveted Oxford Street precinct and inside this jaw droppingly spacious property. It's just the type of house you need in your life. Find yourself lost in this luxurious four-bedroom house; offering you enough places to avoid your nagging mother-in-law and ample yard to play with the kids. Let the kids choose their rooms but make sure you call dibs on the huge master bedroom. Featuring a huge walk in robe and an en-suite that offers his and her vanity and a bath you've chosen well. You even have your own study; Seriously this place is big. Even with your massive bedroom empire, sometimes you need a little fresh air; this is where the outdoor features come in. You open the sliding glass windows and take a breather from the daily grind. Just as the amazing view settles in, something catches your eye and you're consumed with excitement. Beneath you lies a magnificent glass framed swimming pool. Its calm water reflects the sunlight; potentially blinding and yet you continue to stare right at it. The water is calling out your name and you're not one to refuse an invite. You rush downstairs to the pool, making your way past not one but TWO living areas! You zip past the gourmet kitchen and then run back in to appreciate its stainless steel appliance. You take a seat at the stone breakfast bar and start to wonder, how did you get so lucky? Back to the matter at hand, you finally reach the pool and are just about to dive in but are stopped short by the doorbell. Annoyed, you go to see who dared to disturb your happy hour. Stepping out of the door, you look around for the uninvited guest. However, there's not a soul in sight. Figuring it was just your imagination, you begin to turn around and decide to get back to that swim. As you turn, your eyes catches a glimpse of the open door of your two-car garage. Curious at seeing it open, you race to close it as soon as you get inside. By the time you are facing the door, you stop short; staring in shock at what stands before you. It's your mother-in-law, piercing you with her judgmental gaze. You shout out in absolute fear; waking up from your dream turned nightmare. You get out of bed, in the middle of the night for some water and as you pour yourself a glass, you make a decision; you're definitely going to make an appointment to view this property.
