Check out this gem of a home from the 1930s that is sitting pretty on a massive 1800 (approx) square meter block in one of Wellington's nicest streets. This place is a rare find nowadays as its got all the charm, space and character you could wish for in a family home plus the potential to further value add to its desirability especially if you are paint brush ready. Inside, there are up to 5 well sized bedrooms, with the main bedroom offering air conditioning, ceiling fan and built-in wardrobes for extra convenience. The second bedroom has double glass doors that open right onto the front porch while the third has its own built-in wardrobes. The family bathroom has everything you need - bathtub, vanity, shower and toilet - and there's even a second shower and w.c tucked away at the back of the house for added practicality. You'll love the bright living area with its open fireplace, ceiling fan and window bench perfect for gazing out over the huge front yard. There is also a dining room with its own fireplace, making it a perfect spot for family gatherings. The kitchen is updated and ready for action with a big pantry, island bench, dishwasher and all the cooking gadgets you could want. Outside, the gardens are lush and gorgeous with an automatic watering system and plenty of fruit trees in the backyard which is where you'll find a garage, carport, and a BBQ area - ideal for outdoor entertaining. This is a slice of paradise right in the heart of Wellington where bygone architectural style highlighted with a contemporary flair and offers the next owner the potential to add their own signature to this period gem.
