Welcome to the timeless elegance of 116 Oliver Street, Glen Innes - a Federation home of the 1890s. This three-bedroom haven seamlessly blends historical charm with modern comfort. As you enter, the wooden floorboards and stained-glass features evoke a sense of heritage, while the wood-heated lounge room provides warmth and character. Bathed in natural light, the kitchen is a fusion of tradition and convenience, offering ample bench space and an electric stove. The east-facing sunroom serves as a versatile space, perfect for working from home or as a potential fourth bedroom. A practical bathroom with a shower and a separate toilet, and a storage shed caters to organisational needs. Outside, a double carport and dual access on the corner block add modern functionality. 116 Oliver Street is a unique opportunity to own a piece of Glen Innes history, where heritage meets modern living. A perfect blend of character and convenience, this residence invites you to create your own narrative within its storied walls.
