Presenting the Railway Store built in the early 1900s, the home has been recently renovated with care & respect to preserve the history & charm, whilst introducing modern comforts. Set on a manicured acre surrounded by stunning rural views. Four bedrooms Office/hobby room/5th bedroom Two bathrooms Lounge room with wood heater Large family room with heaps of built-in storage & wood heater Brand new, country kitchen SMEG cooking Formal dining Rear & side verandah with spectacular outlook Mud room at the back door Family size laundry Large sunroom New air conditioners throughout 13 foot ceilings Original VJ walls Polished timber flooring Ceiling fans Large 1930 shed with hardwood floor & car spaces Three bay carport New main roof Renewed electrical wiring Over 60,000 litres of rainwater storage Boundary fencing Opening in 1910, along with the commissioning of the railway line, the Railway Store soon became the hub of the community in Freestone. Always a home, initially there was just the store at the front, however not long after WW2, the post office and telephone exchange was added. 3 families derived their living from the store and enjoyed many happy years in the home before it eventually closed in 1973 and has been a private dwelling since. Freestone is less than 15 minutes from the vibrant, rural city of Warwick. Known for fertile farming land & stunning views in all directions. Every aspect of this property is beautifully presented & maintained. Call Craig to book your private inspection 0455 45 9966
