It's not often you'll find an expansive private courtyard in a townhouse. It's even rarer to have it opening out into parkland, and rarer still for this to be located in one of Canberra's most popular and tightly held suburbs. This large, single level townhouse is a hidden gem, tucked away just steps from Blue Gum Primary School, and a short walk to so much more. With a bus stop also just steps from your courtyard, it's hard to find a more convenient location than this. A large, light-filled living room sets the tone for this property as you first walk in, with plenty of space to spread out, and can lend itself to a variety of layouts. There is also a separate dining area off the kitchen, which is in its original condition, but perfectly functional. You've got 3 bedrooms here, with an ensuite and walk-in robe off the main bedroom, and all look out onto that large, private courtyard. This is a terrific space to entertain or simply enjoy the outdoors, with a variety of sunny and shady spots to choose from, whilst also keeping the home low maintenance, perfect for the busy family.
