Not very often you find these homes that ooze a level of character and charm such as this. It's been added onto a few times and this has really helped to create this quirky space. There's bedrooms at the back of the home and a master upstairs. All of which are very well hidden and seem to blend in with its surroundings. The words cute and quirky can sometimes represent a home being small and pokey. However multiple living areas and plenty of room to escape to open the home up. A well modernized and renovated kitchen is centrally located servicing the two living spaces that branch off from it. Galley kitchen in style makes for ample bench space and room for people to move freely within. With stainless appliances including gas cooktop, Caesar stone benches and subway tile splash-backs the classic black and white decor is a great blend of colours in this authentic home. The master bedroom featured upstairs opens onto a huge south facing deck, capturing some delightful sea breezes and all overlooking the saltwater in-ground pool and tropical gardens. An adjoining ensuite makes this bedroom a very private adult retreat. With air-conditioning, raked ceilings and plenty of wardrobe space it will feel like your very own Air B&B. To relax and unwind, the in-ground pool has all of that space covered. The private oasis covered with palms and boardwalk will let you find your own space and tranquil setting. There's so much more you can do with this space, just a little vision and creativity. A property that really has a lot more to offer than what you can see in the photos. Close to local schools, shops and water at the end of the road. It's definitely worth putting on the list to view.
