If you are looking for a project this could be just what you after. With a bit of a spit and polish you could bring this character filled home back to its former glory. The land measures over 1000sqm with an added bonus of rear lane access. The main street shopping strip is only a short stroll away as is medical services. The site also lends itself to subdivision STCA or you may want to build your forever home. Located at the Paris end of Hagelthorn Street options are aplenty here.
