We believe this lovely old home was built in around 1920s. It has many of its original features such as 12ft ceilings, tongue and groove walls, picture rails and a fireplace in the huge living room. A formal dining room, four bedrooms, a hallway with a later addition of a built-in bookcase and massive enclosed east-facing sunroom. The front stairs open into another enclosed sunroom, this time being north-facing. There is also loads of storage space throughout the house. The main bathroom has been modified to suit either an elderly person or a person with a physical disability. The back bathroom/toilet and the kitchen are definitely in need of a make-over; the old/torn vinyl covering was a trip hazard and was removed for safety. The underlay needs to have wet-area treatment before the installation of tiles. New features : Reverse cycle air-conditioning in the living room and main bedroom • Solar PV array on the roof • The roof space has insulation • LPG hot water • A wide ramp leads from the carport to the dining room, the original back stairs lead to the kitchen and also provides access to the back bathroom/laundry. • Interconnected smoke alarms have been installed and meet the current Queensland requirements. This grand residence is grand in size and grand in features. The massive home is situated on a 1,373 m² corner block only a short stroll to the centre of town.
