

155 Johnston Street, Annandale, NSW 2038

PILCHER

Sold House

Thursday, 11 April 2024

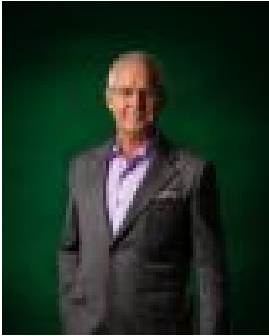

155 Johnston Street, Annandale, NSW 2038

Bedrooms: 2

Bathrooms: 1

Area: 190 m2

Type: House

Simon Pilcher
0290025210

Trent Conlan
0401382574

$2,000,000

Superbly located and bathed in natural light, this oversized two-bedroom home is a great opportunity for buyers looking to secure a character-filled home in a prime lifestyle address. It features all the hallmarks that make homes of this era so sought-after including polished floorboards, high ornate ceilings, and an array of original fireplaces. Extra-wide proportions reveal separate living and dining areas plus a modern stone kitchen, while interiors spill out to a sunny northeast facing courtyard with plenty of space to relax and entertain. Both bedrooms, too, are oversized and appointed with built-in robes and there's also a handy study nook. The home is comfortable to live in now with exciting scope to update and add further value just 250m from Booth Street, close to Hinsby Park and with easy access to popular Annandale North Public School. Generous interiors and great natural light Spacious separate living and dining areas Northeast courtyard, alfresco entertaining Light filled dining area opens to courtyard Modern stone kitchen with ample storage High ornate ceilings, original floorboards Oversized bedrooms offer built-in robes Bright and airy bathroom, internal laundry Multiple fireplaces, boutique study space Attic storage, low maintenance surrounds 250m to Booth Street cafes, shops, dining 150m from Annandale North Public School 100m to Hinsby Park/children's playground Easy access to the Anzac Bridge and CBD Character and potential on Johnston Street