Situated along the sought-after White Hills Road in Penguin this mini farm features a little over 18 acres of mostly flat, fertile land. Four creek fed dams provide year-round water for the paddocks. Fenced to keep the wallabies out, the current owners have successfully grown crops of potatoes and onions providing a little boost to their income. They also run sheep and raise lambs. At both ends of the property there's some nice tall timber providing shelter and privacy along with an ample supply of firewood. The three-bedroom western red cedar home fits nicely into the mini farm feel of the property and there's a nice sized shed with a recreation room attached. A machinery shed for all of your farm gear is also onsite. All of this only a few minutes from downtown Penguin with its cafes, great schools, sporting precinct and beautiful beaches!
