Nestled between leafy Westerfolds parklands and the iconic Templestowe Village famous for its fine dining and cafe lifestyle, this immaculately kept weatherboard home inspired by Frank Lloyd Wright, is mostly floor to ceiling glass that offers an abundance of natural north sunshine and views over the treetops of Westerfolds. The home is open plan design with an upright electric oven and plenty of benches and cupboards. The living area is split by a wood fire place creating a formal and informal zone while remaining open plan. There is also a split AC in the living. There are 3 bedrooms, all with built-in robes. The bathroom features both a shower and a bathtub, perfect for washing the kids and enjoying a relaxing soak after a hectic day. There is also a separate laundry. Other features include a small studio cottage with power and light, a separate shed, carport at the end of a long drive and set on a relatively flat 818 (approx.) sqm of land. Zoned for Templestowe College this is ideal for a home owner, astute investor or someone wanting to build their dream home amongst other architecturally designed master pieces.
