A high-end renovation and generous rebuild have turned this once modest end terrace into a spacious two-bedroom plus attic study home that could easily have come straight from the pages of a top shelf interiors magazine. Cathedral ceilings, European oak floors and sophisticated finishes highlight the devotion to quality throughout, with bright open plan living, a bespoke kitchen, beautiful designer bathrooms, an impressive attic conversion and inviting courtyard garden striking the perfect balance between style and functionality. In a wide tree-lined street providing ample parking, the home is further enhanced by a convenient 10-15min walk to shops and cafes in the heart of Annandale, Leichhardt's Norton Street, Stanmore village and city buses on Parramatta Road. Architecturally crafted living and dining Island kitchen features ASKO appliances Bi-folding glass doors to rear courtyard Outdoor gas fireplace, in-built seating Two bedrooms, main has built-in robes Pull down ladder to attic retreat/study Sleek new bathrooms, one with laundry European oak floors, zoned ducted air Right-of-way pedestrian access at rear 900m (11mins walk) from Booth Street Just 550m to Annandale Public School 5min drive or 1km walk to Stanmore T2 Stylish modern living at 16 Ferris Street
