A piece of history is on display having faultless presentation with quality craftsmanship and finishes. It is with great privilege we present this elegantly renovated and preserved family home to the market. We offer a rare opportunity to purchase a wonderful piece of Picton's history. The original homestead, built in the mid-1850s, sits on 1044m² and has been sensitively extended to honour the character and charm of its period with a touch of modern day conveniences. An eye for finer detail with nothing missed in the sale of this period home. Amazing timber floorboards are a highlight, central ducted heating and cooling, slow combustion heaters housed in original open fire places and natural gas bayonets in lounge area. Entertaining needs are met with the renovated dream kitchen extending to the alfresco dining with built in pizza oven, fuelled by mains gas. - Country style with 5 bedrooms restored to its original period - New kitchen with gourmet gas cooker - 3m ceilings, fire places and wide polished timber floors- Lined internal timber board walls and ceilings- Upstairs parents retreat providing an area to relax with ensuite-The outdoor covered entertaining area offers superb views- Wide street frontage set back off the road- Fully landscaped gardens, paved areas and secure yard- Extensive verandah envelopes the home- Beautiful colonial style bathrooms- Internal access from triple garage/workshop area, along with off street parking The property is one of a kind and will attract a lot of interest in today's market place. Picton is renowned for old historical properties of this nature. The home offers a rural lifestyle and magnificent views of rolling hillsides. If you have young children it's an ideal area to raise a family being a quiet street and set well back from the road.
