This incredible, off-grid home is tucked privately into its own 14 acres of land. It offers a sense of complete privacy yet is just moments from the centre of Geeveston. The house was built in 2006 but has enjoyed a tasteful renovation quite recently – this has created a light filled and spacious home that's ready for its new owners to enjoy. The home provides two spacious bedrooms, one with built in robes and the master offers a walk in robe and an ensuite. The kitchen, living, and dining are open plan, and enjoy tranquil views that incorporate neighbouring farmlands as well as the mountain ranges in the distance. The kitchen offers gas cooking, timber benchtops, and a large walk in pantry. The land is predominantly bush, but sections close to the house have been cleared to allow for the well fenced veggie gardens and the outdoor entertaining areas. A picturesque dam sits alongside one of the boundaries and can easily irrigate the gardens if you wish, platypus have often been seen enjoying this water source, as have the myriad of other native wildlife. Tracks have been created to lead you through the property and there is vehicle access into the bush, to make your land management easier. The property is currently powered by a wind turbine with new batteries to store your energy, and there is plenty of scope to add solar panels as well. This property is ideal for those committed to a more self-sustainable lifestyle, while still wanting to be part of a thriving community. Award winning eateries and local services are less than five minutes away and there is the stunning natural playground within the Hartz Ranges National Park, right on your doorstep.
