“The design is clean and neat with lots of space for personal artwork and decorative object display, giving these homes a personal touch.” – Sarah Wardlaw, Cera Stribley Architecture

Open-plan living areas create unity and maximise space within each Hartwood residence. Floor-to-ceiling windows are paired with sliding glass doors to invite natural light inside, while also seamlessly connecting residents to the outside world. Hartwood residents have the opportunity to personalise their kitchen with two layouts and alternate light and dark colour schemes. The European-style kitchen is a refined and modern offering, with a top of the line downdraft rangehood using technology to reverse the air intake and maximise efficiency, giving the kitchen an abundance of storage space and concealed appliances for a sleek clean finish. The Traditional-style layout provides a classic feel and versatility with generous work spaces and storage areas. Limestone, granite and timber accentuate the quality and natural aesthetic of each kitchen. Each Hartwood kitchen is complemented by a cleverly designed wine cellar unit featuring discrete pocket doors, a 120+ bottle storage system and underbench Vintec wine fridge, capable of storing up to 50 red and white bottles at perfect drinking temperatures. Wood grain cabinetry, storage, shelving, stone bench tops and a sink provide stylish convenience.
