This is proof that great family design lasts a lifetime! Built in the 1960s for the family of a master stonemason, this four bedroom, two bathroom, dual zone home is a masterpiece of Mid-Century form ...with outstanding family functionality that gets even better over time! Master-crafted in glamorous Mid-Century style, and fully-renovated for today's busy lifestyle, this innovative home fits every occasion with towering principal living and a relaxed kitchen-casual area separated by slide-away doors; perfect to open-out and entertain or close-in for separate peace. Freshly styled with a prestige Ilve appliance kitchen, there's a substantial servery-buffet to make family dining a breeze and spectacular circular '60s bar to entertain across the eras! Rising to accommodate every age and stage of family life with a lofty mezzanine encompassing three robe-fitted double bedrooms, this family-wise home features a garden-level wing (perfect for in-laws, adult children, guests or working at home), and a glossy fully-tiled bathroom (each with separate WC) for each bedroom zone. There's even added work-life balance with a spot to position a mezzanine home-office in view of the kids! A treasure trove of uniquely crafted features with artisan-crafted terrazzo floors and stairs, custom parquetry for each bedroom, and interior ironwork framing the sweeping stairway and mezzanine, there's a wealth of contemporary comfort with a glorious gas-fireplace for principal living, multiple reverse-cycle air-conditioners, big built-in robes, and a generous auto-garage under the roofline. Situated in the heart of Highett's family precinct with the bus to the Brighton and Mentone private schools in reach, and Sandringham Secondary College just a walk around the parks, this unique mid-century home comes with a once-in-a-lifetime address. Just half a dozen blocks to Highett Rd's station, supermarket and cafes, there's Highland Ave playground at the end of the street, Peterson Reserve within a kick and the best of Sandringham's beachside village life and Hampton St's late strip living within reach!
