Located just steps away from the picturesque St Vincent Street's tree-lined boulevard, this charming Victorian-era home offers spacious living and adaptability. Featuring a generous 15m (approx.) frontage, this original residence has been updated over time to cater to modern family lifestyles. Boasting three ample bedrooms, a well-appointed bathroom, an open-plan kitchen and dining area, a formal lounge and dining space, a separate laundry and Street parking completes the picture. With its desirable north-east orientation, this home provides ample space to create an inner-city retreat. Situated between St Vincent Gardens and Gasworks Art Park, and close to Albert Park Village's cafes, shops, and restaurants, its location is ideal for enjoying a vibrant urban lifestyle. Transportation is a breeze with city-bound trams and the light rail just a short stroll away. Plus, Albert Park Primary School and the esteemed Albert Park College are within walking distance, along with attractions like MSAC, South Melbourne Market, and the beach, all easily accessible.
