Situated in one of North Melbourne's most delightful tree-lined streets, this freestanding period home presents a wonderfully unique inner-city lifestyle or investment opportunity. Pretty as a picture, the doll's house facade is instantly engaging complemented by a light-filled interior comprising one large bedroom with robes and updated bathroom with shower/tub combo. Adding to the appeal is an adaptable front living area and neat kitchen/meals to the rear including Westinghouse oven with induction cooktop. Other highlights of this one-of-a-kind Victorian include solid timber floors, panel heater, internal laundry facilities and attic storage via retractable ladder, plus a serene north-facing backyard garden with direct access to the side ROW. A short stroll to Parkville's hospital precinct, Royal Park and a choice of tram routes, it's also close to Errol Street cafes and shops, popular schools, Melbourne Uni and Queen Victoria Market, as well as easy access to Citylink.
