A collection of new boutique apartments conveniently situated in the heart of vibrant inner city suburb Burwood, Adela presents a contemporary approach to living that delivers practical flexibility for the future. Unique and functionally resolved both inside and out, this project is perfectly positioned to balance proximity to buzzing urban areas with tranquil suburban calm making it a truly idyllic place to call home. The extraordinarily well crafted structure of Adela, courtesy of PBD Architects, was designed to create a harmonious, tranquil living environment with spaces catering to a range of practical lifestyle considerations. The simple yet contemporary interiors are thoughtfully designed to be efficient, flexible and inviting, allowing for the creation of beautiful personal spaces. A combination of an understated but careful attention to detail and a clever bespoke design philosophy.
