This well appointed home boasts two bedrooms, two bathrooms and two basement car spaces. The apartment hugs the south western corner of the development with the glazed extents of the bedrooms deliberately dissolving the extents of the architecture and allowing the extensive surrounding views to be taken in. Plant Street by Milieu comprises 21 thoughtfully designed apartments in the leafy south east suburb of Malvern. With architecture by RITZ&GHOUGASSIAN, interiors by Georgina Jeffries and landscaping by Acre, these residences are an exercise in balance and restraint with the architecture defined by solid, textural formstempered by layers of greenery. This relationship between the building and plant life is present at every level of the design.
