Utterly irresistible, this inner-city sanctuary is the epitome of style, convenience and comfort. Enjoy the tranquillity of leafy Macleay Gardens, a mere stroll to the restaurants of the City and Braddon. This tightly held address, promises an understated elegance and delivers a home that is close to perfection. Architecturally designed, art deco inspired, understated street appeal, in a complex that offers timeless appeal, our apartment claims one of the prized positions. The sun-soaked northerly balcony presents captivating views to Black Mountain Tower and Mount Ainslie. Entertaining flows effortlessly from the picturesque outdoors to the sumptuous indoor living. Embracing the landscape, the interior highlights include plantation shutters, warm solid timber flooring and rich granite benchtops. Generous in size and proportion, the versatile floor plan suits a wide range of needs. The study can double as a guest room, author retreat or private hobby space. The living rooms make entertaining a breeze while the segregated bedrooms allow early retirement for tired eyes. -?Walk, run, bike or stroll to the ANU, City or Parkland. -?Two bedrooms, ensuite and study-?Two secure, side by side, car spaces and ample storage-?Spacious indoor and outdoor living-?Captivating outlook, views and sunshine-?Security access to the building -?Lift and stair access to the apartment-?Ducted reverse cycle air conditioning-?Just a few minutes to the tram lineShowcasing a blend of timeless appeal and sought-after location, this home is offered for your inspection by open house or private inspection to suit.
