Modern living amongst the quaint heritage buildings brings many city workers to this suburb. Reducing the work commute brings more leisure time and quality of life for families and plenty of night life options for those who enjoy the bars, nightclubs and café/restaurant scene. Roma Street Parklands, Centenary Pool and Victoria Park are all close by with Southbank just a short commute. Public transport is so easily accessible that you'll question why you even have a car when you live at this address! NOTE: This property is unfurnished and has no balcony.
