Nestled in the heart of Rye, 2135 Point Nepean Rye is pioneering a new offering by Curtis York, inspired by the Mornington Peninsula's surrounding natural landscape. Designed by Architects Cera Stribley, the building is a sanctuary of beachside living and a gateway to everything that makes the Mornington Peninsula the coveted destination that it is. Seated on Rye's foreshore, where local shops pair with a laid-back beach lifestyle, residents are only a short drive from the many treasures of the wider Mornington Peninsula. Kitchens in this 2-bedroom apartment are light-filled and calm spaces, whilst bedrooms act as an elegant retreat from long days of beachside activity. Step outside onto a private terrace and marvel your surrounds. This residence is assigned its own private, ground floor 'beach box' storage, with access to a residents-only wellness retreat, residents' lounge, retail space, ground floor entry lobby and internal courtyard.
