There's a sweet simplicity and charming cottage feel in this weatherboard and brick home on the high side of one of Queens Park's best streets. Just down from Bar Lucio, the two-bedroom home is set back from the street on a dual access block with a lovely front garden and sunny courtyard at the rear. Whitewashed brickwork, exposed beams and Kauri floorboards add loads of character to the interiors with big skylights bringing light into the heart of the home. Comfortable as is, there's plenty of scope to add your stamp of style or even add a second storey in line with neighbouring homes as well as dual off-street parking as per approved plans. A family friendly neighbourhood on the edge of Bondi Junction is 600m to Westfield with close proximity to top schools, Centennial Park and the east's best beaches.
