The perfect story book composition - meticulously restored red brick enhanced by a gorgeous palette of fine touches and charming character. Ideally located within Wagga's medical precinct, is this pretty, four-bedroom red brick cottage. An empathetic and stylish renovation has completed the home for modern family life while affectionately respecting its heritage roots. Subtle neutral colours marry with the original timber flooring and windows. The kitchen, dining and living is airy and sunlit, with high ornate ceilings and stunning timber floors. Ducted gas heating and ducted evaporative cooling throughout and plantation shutters filter light, screening the comings and goings of the street. The front yard gifts peaceful glimpses of verdant green. This is a gorgeous nook for morning coffee or equally a blissful stage for an evening glass or two. The kitchen is well appointed, with generous stone countertops, two-pac cabinetry and ample storage, think easy meals with lots of room for family communion around the dining table. Four generous bedrooms, three with built-in robes and leafy aspects. Family bathroom extends retreat vibes. Master features a stunning ensuite. The private rear yard is a perfect home for kids to play, whilst you entertain with friends and family. Rear lane access from Doris Roy lane, which is only used for local homeowners flows to a shed that most men will envy, four car accommodation with power. 22 Murray Street is the whole package. With nothing left to do, you can unpack, sit back and relax. Auction onsite Saturday 18th November at 11am. Disclaimer: All information contained herein is gathered from sources we deem reliable.
