Perched like a tree house overlooking its own huge 5239M2 Bush Block is 23 Chatsworth Road. This home has a lot to offer the astute purchaser, the location is whisper quiet, there are no immediate neighbours so privacy is assured and the house has a surprising amount of space. Entering from Chatsworth Road access to the home is via a bridge, yes a bridge, as the home is actually on two levels, the entry is on the upper level which takes in sweeping views over the valley below. On this level there is the kitchen and dining area, the bathroom, one of the two bedrooms and the laundry. Take the generous and wide staircase to the lower level to a massive second living area and the second bedroom. Both bedrooms have built in robes and are very generous in proportions, in fact the whole home is a surprise as the first impression from the street is of a modest home that gives no hint of the generous spaces set over the two levels. This home is a perfect starter for a holiday or first home, perfect for someone who wants to get in and have a go, the bones are there, and the location is good too, bring your ideas and reap the rewards. • Town Water • Town Sewer • Massive rainwater tanks and pumps • Quiet Location and Private
