Welcome to 23 Eleanor Street, a charming home built in the 1970s that has retained its character while cleverly incorporating spacious extensions. Inside, you will find a home filled with character and full of potential. The three bedrooms provide ample space for a new family, each offering comfort and privacy. The master bedroom has been thoughtfully extended to include a private sunroom, perfect as a study, reading nook, or cozy spot to enjoy your favorite book all while bathed in warm natural light. The original 1970s-style kitchen and dining area add a touch of nostalgia, presenting an opportunity for those with a creative vision to bring their dream kitchen to life. Imagine the possibilities for modernization and personalization, creating a space that perfectly suits your lifestyle. The main living space has been extended to create more room and flood the space with natural light. Upstairs is further enhanced by a large sunroom and additional sitting/dining area, providing versatile spaces for entertaining guests or simply relaxing in the sunlight. Downstairs offers even more flexibility with a small workshop, a convenient second toilet, garage space, laundry area, and plenty of storage space for hobbies or whatever you desire. Outside, discover ample covered areas for entertaining, extra carport space, and a fully fenced yard, offering privacy and security on the 840m² block. Situated in the desirable suburb of Burpengary, this charming home offers a convenient lifestyle with easy access to shops, schools, and the train station, making everyday life a breeze. Zoned for general residential use, it provides a peaceful and family-friendly environment, perfect for those seeking a comfortable and well-connected community. Whether you're hosting family gatherings or unwinding after a long day, this home offers the ideal backdrop for making lasting memories. Don't miss out on this opportunity - schedule your viewing today!
