It sounds simple, but in this day and age it's getting harder and harder to do. The cities and homes we're living in are just not designed for wellness. But we're going to change that. We're creating somewhere with wellness at its core. It will be a place where every decision is based around people's wellbeing and traditional community values are combined with the latest in urban planning. Where the area's local farming history informs its future. And the principles of health, happiness, prosperity, sustainability and community all come together to create a place like no other. That's the goal of Five Farms. To provide a home where you can not only live, but live well.
