This lovely old Queenslander sits on a fantastic fully fenced 1171 sqm corner block, which allows for easy access to the two-bay shed in the rear yard. The home has lovely original features including soaring ceiling heights, silky oak fretwork, casement windows, and glorious hardwood floors. The home is classed as a two-bedroom, but for all practical purposes, the enclosed sleepout makes for a comfortable third bedroom. The living areas are huge and the kitchen has had a facelift at some stage and is completely practical. Modern conveniences like air conditioning go hand in hand with traditional French doors and coloured glass. The most utilized part of the home is the massive under-roof deck that looks out over the block. This oversized deck has room for a large dining table and outdoor lounging area. There is power out here, and this is the family hub of the home. It is perfect for lively family BBQs and just as suitable for a quiet morning coffee. Under the house is room for all your hobbies as well as parking for an additional two cars (at least). Located within an easy walk to the town centre this is a very attractive traditional Queenslander. It has plenty of potential for improvement if you wish, but is very much move-in ready and completely livable.
