Solid as the day it was built, this 4 bedroom home sits proudly on a 2000 square metre (approx) allotment, complete with Man Cave with kitchen sink, running water and a shower. The stunning feature of the home is the huge living room featuring a combustion heater and split system reverse cycle air conditioning. This room opens onto the original 1950's eat-in kitchen which in turn overlooks the dining room with sliding doors to the rear garden. The 3 main bedrooms at the front of the home are all massive and a smaller bedroom adjacent the dining room is still large by today's standards. There is an early-type two way bathroom and a generous size laundry/store room. So much space - all you need to do is add a modern touch to it to bring it back to life.
