Have you ever dreamed of leaving the rat race and purchasing a rural property and then enjoying the peace and solitude that it might bring? This approximately 174 acre Northern Tasmanian farm adjoining the Blythe River may just fit the bill. Located approx. 15 minutes drive to the city of Burnie and the coastal township of Penguin. This undulating land is predominately red basalt soils, ideal for growing vegetables or most commercial crops. Improvements include a 4 bedroom home, machinery shed, stockyards and some underground irrigation mains. The 4 bedroom weatherboard home is nestled towards the centre of the farm, with commanding valley and farm land views. Ideal farm for running a breeding herd of approx. 80 to 90 cows and calves or a fattening program, or continue on with the dairy heifer agistment which is already in place.
