Making an entrance into the flurry of residential developments in Melbourne's CBD is Union Tower. The tower that has it all is backed by developer JSK Property and architect Rothelowman, who have ensured that fresh thinking is behind the building's one-of-a-kind architectural design. With 165 residences spread across 35 floors, Union Tower showcases an elegant exterior made of wall-to-ceiling glass and contrasting black and white lines, creating the illusion of multiple slender towers. Perched on a six-level podium and set in a slim, charming dark steel frame, The Tower occupies a small footprint. This means that there are just five apartments per floor, facilitating peace and privacy for residents. Ready for moving in any time? Book your inspection now!
