Leafy Alphington brings an instant sense of calm with its beautiful tree-lined streets, access to extensive parklands and its quiet residential surrounds. Bennett Street is no exception, and this charming brick period home offers an unusually good sense of space and tranquility with rear access to Darebin Parklands. Well set back from the street within a landscaped garden setting it retains original period details including decorative ceilings, picture rails, and hardwood floors. Bright and spacious, it features a welcoming central hallway leading to the light filled living room with original brick tapestry fireplace, formal dining, three double bedrooms (BIRs) and central kitchen overlooking the sunroom and rear garden. The well-equipped kitchen includes a recently updated gas stove/oven, and plenty of storage space. Outside, enjoy the private, low maintenance garden with two separate garages, carport, side driveway, second bathroom, and water tank. Other highlights include solar panels, gas ducted heating, recently replaced HWS, storeroom, separate WC and laundry. With a choice of parks, it's a short walk to Darebin Parklands, Pitcher Park, Alphington Station and local shops and cafes and only moments to Station Street Village, High Street, public transport and schools.
