* Walking distance to the beach* Corner allotment* Underground power, town water and sewerage* Slightly elevated Positioned in popular Mission Hills at Wongaling Beach, this large corner block is walking distance to the beach and will suit a number of building plans having 2 street frontages. It's slightly elevated and captures those south east ocean breezes which will be welcomed in the summer months. A modern established house is on the western side, and a vacant block is located next door. The estate is home to a number of local wallabies and there's no building covenants so you are free to bring your shed or house design.
