Auction Location: On site A double-fronted architect-designed home and adaptable residence, this house is a sprawling space of separate wings for family living or the extended household, the highlights being the huge master suite and the additional lower-level living with access off the double garage on New McLean Street. On a block that gets wider as you explore, it delivers unexpected levels of floorspace, separation and privacy, offering great versatility in a beautifully considered design of seductive curves and austere concrete, positioned in a sought-after pocket between the city and the beaches.
