A once in a generation opportunity awaits to secure one of the best kept secrets in Cowes. This foreshore property has all the attributes you could ask for. Nestled in this extremely quiet north facing environment is the ideal location to let all the stresses of life wash away. Whether watching the sun rise or set the native wild life just adds to the surreal setting, even the activity on the water can take your breath away yachts, cruise liners, submarines. As the sunsets the lights across the bay take a whole new level of attraction. The original home is set over a single level and flows to the stunning north facing aspect, huge potential to have a second level which only increases the views to the west, the owner has even had drawing which can be provided, you could stamp your own personality and create the ideal setting for family and friends.
