Directly connected to both Moffat and Dicky Beaches, this insanely charming Sunshine Coast beachside home is the sort of place where you won't ever want to leave. Set on nearly 600m² of prime coastal real estate, The Weekender is a four-bedroom beachside property that exudes the holiday-home-feel from the second you walk through the door. Originally built in the 1970's, this newly refurbished home offers multiple spacious living areas, a fully-equipped downstairs area ideal for multi-generational living, complete with kitchenette, sink and fridge, and a pool-centred back garden filled with large trees and a handy garden shed. Most importantly with this property, is its amazing location. Having the benefit of a three-street frontage, The Weekender not only has just one neighbour, but also provides three different entry points for those hoping to one day build their dream home on the site. The site itself currently offers views to both Moffat Headland and an ocean-view to the north-east, both of which could be dramatically increased through the development of a new property on the site. So, if you are looking for a perfect, cosy, beachside home that offers an incredible amount in terms of future potential, please visit our dedicated property site; www.theweekender.nazerkurz.com
