When it comes to interior design, combining a clean white with the light and airy feel of natural timber tones can deliver an absolutely stunning result in your home. This combination takes interior design back to its roots, with the white and wood trend reflecting a feeling of pureness entwined with our love of nature. And that is exactly what they have created here, Welcome to 'White and Wood'. This stunning, near-new build from the award-winning Brighton Homes, features 4 generously sized bedrooms, open-plan living with sliding doors to discreetly section off a media room and views of the pool from all living areas. The kitchen truly serves as the heart of the home, boasting a captivating feature splashback that adds character and style to the space. It's warm tones create an inviting atmosphere, drawing people in to gather and connect. The Fisher and Paykel stainless steel oven and gas cooktop offer both functionality and sophistication, making cooking a pleasure. The rattan pendant feature lights add a touch of natural elegance, illuminating the space with warmth and charm. And with stone benchtops providing durability and luxury, this kitchen is not only aesthetically pleasing but also practical for everyday living. A standout feature of the home is undoubtedly the expansive inground swimming pool. Imagine preparing a delightful BBQ feast from the deck while the children joyfully frolic in the pool, their laughter echoing through the air. Then, as evening falls, gather around the indoor/outdoor alfresco area, enjoying a delicious meal in the company of loved ones, while the pool undergoes an enchanting transformation from day to night-time. The pool isn't just a feature; it's a focal point for creating unforgettable moments and fostering a sense of togetherness and joy within the home. The laundry continues the beautiful colour palette and is very generous in size, along with the adjoining mudroom, providing ample space to store all of those shoes and bags that don't usually have a designated spot in the home. The master bedroom is deliberately situated at the front of the home to afford privacy, with its ensuite boasting timber-style cabinetry, dual basins, and an adjacent walk-in robe. 'White and Wood' is one of those home that just has that feeling of warmth and relaxation. If you'd like to make 'White and Wood' your Cosy nest, then get in touch with the team today.
