The current owners fell head over heels in love with the breathtaking views from this welcoming family home. The changing of seasons, weather and even time of day creates kaleidoscopic vistas that are never the same. This is why the owners are downsizing with a heavy heart. They'd love to stay in the same street because of the wonderful neighbours, if only they could take the views with them. Another incredible attribute of this home is the amazing variety of ways it can be used: • Either as a four-bedroom home with a spacious living room • Or a three-bedroom home with two very separate living spaces • Or a dual-living home with a fully self-contained level for an independent, multigenerational living arrangement • Or the self-contained level could be a source of income on Air BnB. However you use this home, you will not find another residence that combines such stunning views with this much versatility that can adapt to your changing needs. To avoid missing out, ask for a viewing today. Highlights: • Spectacular views • Spacious rooms • Amazing amount of storage space • Double driveway • Large shed • Big, double garage with room for a workshop • Huge, flat and private backyard • Unique alpine style home with cathedral ceilings • Energy efficient home thanks to solar panels and heat pump hot water system • Wood/gas and split system heating and cooling • Wonderful neighbours and great lifestyle location • Dual, or multigenerational living or income potential as an Air BnB
