The ideal townhouse is modern, low-maintenance and desirably situated – exactly the characteristics attributed to this inviting dual level residence, set back from the street, literally moments from Williamstown station, Point Gellibrand Coastal Heritage Park and Nelson Place. Privacy and great proportions define a ground level dedicated to living and dining in style. Polished floorboards and seamless flow through sliding glass to decked outdoor dimensions and pergola entertaining complement spaces that are delight to be in, enhanced by the stone surfaces, island bench, stainless steel appliances and clear window splashback of the open-plan kitchen. The upstairs level delivers three bedrooms and two bathrooms, including a main bathroom with a separate bath and shower, while a central study nook is efficiently, elegantly included in the upstairs format which features its own beautiful polished floors. A double garage contributes complete convenience to an address that ensures immediate – and enduring – enjoyment.
