Set in the creative hub of the Knutsford precinct is a character home that's ideal to live in right now, with the opportunity to open up and make the most of the north-south orientation. Here you have the best of both worlds: an original brick-and-tile home with historic features and a large garden, amongst the cool contemporary eco-architecture that is springing up all around in this vibrant neighbourhood close to town. A new white picket fence and limestone wall frame the front garden, with lawn, olives, roses, plum trees, lavender and more. The veranda is set back from the street, and is a lovely spot to relax and enjoy the atmosphere. Jarrah floors, etched glass windows and deco ceilings are among the character features, with new plantation shutters on the large original windows. An expansive living room looks over the garden, and decorative glass sliding doors open to the dine-in kitchen. Two good-sized bedrooms feature those deco details plus ceiling fans, and a third bedroom at the rear is also perfect for a study. The bathroom has a bath, laundry incorporated, and a separate toilet with dual access from the outdoors. From the sunroom, sliding glass doors open to the north-facing rear, with a garden shed. There's plenty of potential to make this a delightful outdoor area, with side access down a long shared driveway. This is a great place to live: walk to Booyeembara Park, the golf course and excellent local schools, head west to Monument Hill and down to Freo centre, or enjoy the local cafes and the creative buzz of the neighbourhood.
