Welcome to this ageless architectural gem 56 Princes Street, Mortdale. Leverage the timeless allure and unique attributes of this historic Post Office structure dating back to circa 1890, nestled on a generous 470sqm parcel of land boasting a 15.54m frontage. This monument of historical significance is situated within easy walking distance to a wealth of local amenities, including charming cafes, renowned restaurants, and shopping. With convenient access to public transportation and major highways, this property seamlessly connects you to Sydney's vibrant city centre and beyond. This distinctive residence showcases its original features complimented with recent renovations, creating a touch of modern flair. Oozing in rustic charm within its impeccably maintained walls, the property offers classic living split across two levels, including a formal states room complete with an open fireplace, separate dining options and a private outdoor living area. With ageless beauty as it stands, this architectural gem presents an exciting opportunity for potential redevelopment or renovation within the blue-ribbon strip of Mortdale. Whether it be revitalizing its historic features for a modern twist or completely reimagining its layout to suit contemporary needs. This property holds promise for those seeking to create something truly special in the heart of the community. Awaken the possibilities and contact Jack Huggett on 0422 690 929.
