Under cascades of natural light and immersed in a private garden sanctuary, this spacious residence is a sight to behold, offering a living experience of distinction. Architecturally stunning, the home's central hallway displays garden courtyards as it advances toward a voluminous open-plan living domain. Breathtaking under a soaring cathedral ceiling, it showcases effortless adaptability, catering to desires for relaxation, dining, and entertaining, whilst the sun-filled kitchen relishes its connection to the north-facing rear garden. Three bedrooms include a robed main bedroom with an ensuite, whilst a central bathroom and a laundry with an additional toilet service the additional bedrooms. Reinvigorated with new carpet and a freshly painted interior, there's ample scope for contemporary renovations to make this home truly your own, or dream big and build a new home on the site (STCA). Completely secure, there's parking for two cars, including a single carport, situated a short walk from Rockley Gardens, train stations, Chapel Street and Toorak Road.
