This pure beach front home is located on the golden sands of Archies Beach Bargara. Nestled amongst a tightly held enclave of nine homes it provides a lifestyle of peaceful serenity. Awake to stunning morning sunrises glistening on the waves, together with balmy nights as the full moon dances on the ocean. Enjoy the luxury of swimming all year round in your piece of tropical paradise or watch your family and friends frolic on the beach. A vista and position that invokes a sense of clarity and spirituality as you become one with nature. Architecturally designed by Simon Hughes of Hbe Architects and built by award winning builder Darren Hunt this home embraces the coastal lifestyle with its clean timeless lines. Polished concrete floors throughout, expansive picture windows and soaring ceilings creates simple understated elegance. Glass sliding barn doors contrast against the internal black bricks, a reflection the volcanic rocks on the beach creating harmony between the house and nature. White walls and pale timber joinery complement the space. Functionality highlighted by butlers pantry, air conditioned wine cellar, solar panels and electric front gate. Wide hallways with glass louvres and sliding doors creates indoor outdoor living. The external travertine marble embraces the stylish simplicity of the home. Whilst the established low maintenance gardens with water feature provides additional tranquillity. This is a home that is restrained and timeless. A home that you need to experience and feel. Touch and admire. A home that fills you with joy. A home you will love and remember forever. Call Mark or Kynan for your private inspection.
