

6 Kent Street, Lindisfarne, Tas 7015

Sold House

Thursday, 19 October 2023

6 Kent Street, Lindisfarne, Tas 7015

Bedrooms: 5

Bathrooms: 3

Parkings: 4

Area: 1045 m2

Type: House

Brad Stephens
0437106151

Contact agent

In a corner block position overlooking Lindisfarne, this striking residence is an impeccably maintained example of Modernist Architecture. Constructed in the mid 1960's, the home is surrounded by a beautiful garden and captures abundant natural light from its northerly position. The layout of the home has been designed around a series of courtyards and windows that draw in the tranquil garden views. Dotted throughout the home are hallmarks of the Modernist era that have been respectfully maintained, clean lines, clever uses of space, use of timber and natural materials. The floorplan of the home is flexible and provides several living areas that allow for both semi and fully self-contained living. The bedroom wing of the home comprises four bedrooms serviced by two bathrooms and a living/library area, as well as a separate office and laundry. At the heart of the home is the central fireplace, around which is the main living, dining, and kitchen area. The lower level of the home features a recent renovation and extension which has created a further living area with a potential fifth bedroom and kitchenette, creating the possibility of a full self-contained zone. The architecture of the home is matched outside with a tranquil and abundant garden, that can be explored via a network of paths that take you to various places around the property, each offering a magnificent aspect. The corner block position caters for plenty of off-street parking, with an end-to-end layout double garage, and additional secure parking for vehicles, caravans, boats, and trailers. Situated in one of the Eastern Shore's most desirable suburbs, you are nearby leading schools, cafes, transport, and recreational reserves. On offer here is a fabulously positioned home with architectural integrity that has been beautifully maintained and is ready to be enjoyed.